Ten Warning Signs of Alzheimer's Disease

A recent World Health Organization (WHO) article stated nearly 35.6 million people worldwide live with some form of dementia. The WHO predicts this number will triple by 2050. Alzheimer's is the most common form of dementia, a general term for memory loss and other intellectual abilities serious enough to interfere with daily life. Memory loss that disrupts daily life may be a symptom of Alzheimer's. The Alzheimer's Association has compiled a list of 10 warning signs and symptoms of Alzheimer's and a typical age-related change for each warning sign. Every individual may experience one or more of these signs in different degrees. If you notice any of them, please see a doctor.

1 – Memory Loss that Disrupts Daily Life

Memory loss is one of the most common signs of Alzheimer's, especially forgetting recently learned information. Others include forgetting important dates or events; asking for the same information over and over; relying on memory aides (e.g., reminder notes or electronic devices) or family members for things they used to handle on their own. What's a typical age-related change? Sometimes forgetting names or appointments, but remembering them later.

2 – Challenges in Planning or Solving Problems

Some people may experience changes in their ability to develop and follow a plan or work with numbers. They may have trouble following a familiar recipe or keeping track of monthly bills. They may have difficulty concentrating and take much longer to do things than they did before. What's a typical age-related change? Making occasional errors when balancing a checkbook.

3 – Difficulty Completing Familiar Tasks at Home, at Work or at Leisure

People with Alzheimer's often find it hard to complete daily tasks. Sometimes, people may have trouble driving to a familiar location, managing a budget at work or remembering the roles of a favorite game. What's a typical age-related change? Occasionally needing help to use the settings on a microwave or to record a television show.

Pre-planning is essential for anyone who has been diagnosed Alzheimer's. With healthcare costs are on the rise. An increase in the likelihood of long-term care. Pre-planning can add comfort knowing a plan is in place and provide an avenue to assist with paying for long-term care. Please contact our office for more information or to schedule an initial consultation.

John A. Hoyt, Champion for Animals, dies at 80.

Peggy's dad, John A. Hoyt passed away Sunday, April 15, 2012 at his home in Fredericksburg, Virginia. Mr. Hoyt was the former President/CEO of the Humane Society of the United States. He was a visionary and leader in the animal welfare community, responsible for initiating campaigns to save porpoises and baby seals, stop fur trapping, sport hunting, roadside zoos, cock-fighting and bullfighting, preserve our wild horse heritage and end unnecessary experimentation on lab animals, among other significant accomplishments.

He is survived by his wife, Trudy, his four daughters—Peggy, Karen, Anne and Julie, his grandchildren—Shane, John, Lance, Keaton and Aubrey, his siblings—David, Margaret, Josephine, Carolyn, and Mary, and many cousins, nieces and nephews.

A small family gathering was held in Boyds, Maryland on Saturday, April 21, 2012. The Humane Society of the United States will host a tribute later this year.
