Nursing Home Evictions: Can you be Kicked-Out of the Nursing Home?

No one wants to live in a nursing home. But, for many people it may become necessary at some point in life. For those who do become residents of a nursing home, it is important to understand nursing home transfer and discharge rights to ensure the best care possible.

In general, nursing homes are prohibited from moving or discharging residents. When these situations do occur, specific processes and procedures must be followed. In order to lawfully discharge a resident, the nursing home must be able to prove that it complied with all the procedural requirements and the discharge is for one of the specific allowable reasons. If the discharge occurs and is not for one of the reasons described below, the resident must be allowed to return to the facility.

A resident can never be discharged if moving the resident would be “medically contraindicated,” meaning the discharge would be more medically harmful to the resident’s health than letting the resident continue to reside where they are.

There are six allowable reasons a person may be discharged from a nursing home:

1. The discharge is necessary for the resident’s welfare and the resident’s needs cannot be met in the facility;
2. The discharge is appropriate because the resident’s health has improved sufficiently so the resident no longer needs the services provided by the facility;
3. The safety of other individuals in the facility is endangered;

Hershey Kiss Christmas Trees

- 1/4 cup corn syrup
- 12 green foil-wrapped Hershey chocolate kisses
- 24 miniature peanut butter cups (buy holiday colors)
- 1/4 cup multi-color non-pareils

1. Brush a small amount of corn syrup on the top of a gold or red-foil peanut butter cup (don't unwrap).
2. Place an inverted (top side down) green-foil peanut butter cup on top of the first one. The bottom peanut butter cup is the pot/planter and the top peanut butter cup is the bottom/base the tree.
3. Brush some corn syrup on top of the tree base.
4. Top with a green-foil hershey kiss.
5. Brush corn syrup on the tree and sprinkle non-pareils over the tree.
6. Enjoy!
